Contact profile

Chris Gibson is the Business Development Manager for Carbon Control Software. He is responsible for expanding an already flourishing client list of organisations within a wide range of sectors predominately finance, banking, education and public sector. Chris and his team undertake all aspects of business development to create new business through a steadfastly professional sales methodology which enables the team to foster good relations within all organisations at every level.

With experience in a business development role spanning more than a decade, Chris has been involved in numerous high value projects with a variety of large-scale companies predominately in the Middle East and Far East regions. During his career Chris has demonstrated a wide range of technical and commercial skills that has led to revenue growth for both clients and employers alike.

Prior to joining Carbon Control Software Chris was responsible for Business Development on behalf of an international manufacturing company operating throughout Europe and North America.

Chris commented “I am delighted to have the opportunity to be part of a team of highly qualified and skilled individuals. At Carbon Control Software we are all totally dedicated to working in an ethical manner and hope that our innovative new product will allow other companies to do so in an efficient and effective way, without the need for costly change procedures.”
